Headline:
Sunny spells and some showers today. Rain arriving on Sunday.

Today:
Any early fog patches soon clearing, to give a bright start, with some sunny spells. The clouds will bubble up through the day, bringing the risk of some showers by the afternoon, some possibly heavy. Feeling warm, with light winds. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Any showers should mostly ease this evening. Meanwhile, a band of cloud and rain, locally heavy at times, will slowly move eastwards across all parts overnight. Another mild night. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloudy and wet on Sunday, with some organised heavy showers moving slowly east across the region. Temperatures down compared to Saturday. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Mostly fine and dry with sunny spells on Monday and Tuesday once early fog patches have cleared. A band of showery rain likely to move southeastwards on Wednesday. Windy too.
